We have equipped our new workshop with the latest Marine Equipment Diagnostics (MEDS), engine servicing and fabrication equipment, to deal with almost any marine need.

We service yachts, sports and work boats and have improved over 150 vessels over the years.

We have swiftly picked up new customers, not least because we always offer good quotes!

Our engineering team

Our role is to ensure that you get the most out of your boat.

AD Marine has a deserved reputation for marine skills – our engineers have a total of 100 years of marine expertise.

At our main workshop we undertake engine diagnostics, installation, repairs, boat refits, component fabrication, inboard and outboard work and fitting of water and heating systems.

We also do more complex work to tight delivery timings, like jetdrive installations that may need bespoke parts fabrication.

Get your boat back to peak performance

Vessel running issues can be hard to pinpoint. Our full MEDS review uses the latest diagnostics software to analyse engine and marine systems and solve immediate problems. Our annual marine engine health check also reads and clears any fault codes to help improve performance.

Inboards and outboards

We specify, supply, install, customise and service inboards, outboards, hybrid and saildrive engines from Beta Marine, Yanmar, Volvo Penta, Honda, Mercruiser, Mercury, Suzuki and Yamaha, amongst many others.

We can repower your sports boat or yacht with outboard, inboard motors and drives from almost any common manufacturer.

We also stock a range of engine parts and kits at our workshop.

Water and heating

AD Marine supply and install a range of fresh water systems and calorifier marine heating systems, to ensure your vessel is comfortable all year round.

A marine calorifier uses a series of coils to heat the water inside a tank, which is plumbed into the engine coolant recirculation system on your vessel.

We also fix water 'tank taste' issues with new water tanks, together with a range of filters.
